

MEDICINAL.

A Nightmare

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmares or night hags have it's day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hearty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured, the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"Your Golden Medical Discovery" and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes Prof. Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continued feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. K. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It is better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

CATARRH Nasal Catarrh.

DEFEAT LAID TO ERRORS.

The New York "Sun's" yachting expert says that handling lost yesterday's race to Shamrock. He says:

"According to many yachtsmen the Shamrock was really beaten by the Columbia more through errors of judgment made by those who were in charge of the yacht than by the superior sailing qualities of the Columbia, and there are many of the opinion that if the Shamrock had been sailed properly in the race between that boat and the Columbia for the America's Cup, instead of having been beaten three times consecutively by the American boat she should now have had two victories to her credit. There were many who were familiar with the race and who thought that the trouble with the Shamrock was that there was too much talent aboard and that the sailing master, who is acknowledged to be the best man in the profession in England, has been hampered too much and did not have a free hand.

"The first error made yesterday was in taking in the balloon jib topsail when the yacht was more than a mile and a quarter from the turning mark. This sail should have been carried for at least ten minutes longer in plenty of time to have been lowered away before the men were wanted to lower the spinnaker and trim its sheets. This error was costly, and costed the Columbia to pick up quite a good deal, and her gain would have been much more but for the accident to the spinnaker on Columbia.

"The Shamrock turned the first mark forty-seven seconds in the lead and went on the starboard tack, heading toward the west. The breeze was freshening and the yacht was doing ten marks a minute. The Columbia made a short tack and then took a starboard tack and stood after the Shamrock, and was sailing to windward of the challenger's wake. The Shamrock tacked, crossed the Columbia's bow, and then, instead of tacking and heading on the same course which Captain Barr had selected, and keeping on toward the freshening breeze, which was coming off the Jersey shore, the Shamrock kept on the port tack and allowed the Columbia to sail on with her wind abeam, and that boat, getting the freshening breeze first, improved her position.

"One of the first principles that a sailing master learns is when he has beaten his opponent to keep his yacht between the beaten boat and the mark for which he is sailing. But yesterday, whoever was in charge of the Shamrock seemed to have forgotten this and was crossing tacks all the way home. The Shamrock tacked after the Columbia when it was to late, and then, as the Shamrock was falling down into the Columbia's wake, the challenger took the port tack again and headed toward the north-east. This costly error was repeated on the next tack.

"Twice the Shamrock appeared to have the race won yesterday and twice it was thrown away, apparently, through poor judgment shown by those in charge of the boat. Captain Sycamore is the skipper who sailed the Shamrock, but Jamieson is the man who directs how the boat shall be sailed.

"It was learned yesterday from one who had been in consultation with those on board the Erin that it was Mr. Jamieson who insisted on the Shamrock luffing across the starting line on Tuesday, when the Columbia had gone over in the weather position. The Shamrock had crossed the line too soon. She had been recalled and the yacht bore off and then luffed across instead of wearing around, giving and taking the end of the two minutes and crossing well to windward.

"In the race sailed last Saturday—the first sailed to a finish—the Shamrock kept the Columbia under her lee all the way to the weather mark and turned that mark with a fair lead. Then, instead of breaking out her light sails at once and squaring away for home, thus making the waiting for the Columbia, and then had a luffing match with that yacht, which proved disastrous. If the Shamrock yesterday had been handled as well on the windward leg of the course as she had been in the race in which she turned the weather mark first, instead of being beaten on corrected time she would have won the race with a good margin to spare."

FEMINE VANITY.—The real trouble with a vast number of women of today, especially the women inhabiting our great cities, is that they are victims to the disease of vanity. They have the disease in an acute form. Formerly a woman was contented to please and to be appreciated by her own family. But with the great increase in petiveness and the undoubted improvement in physical appearance which has accompanied it, the woman of today are cursed with the itch to shine outside of their homes. With this desire has come a general loss of modesty, and a lamentable shrinkage of that self-respect and pride of womanhood which used to be
